

ADVERTISEMENT

The San Francisco Standard

Subscribe

Sign in

Politics → | Power Play The Lurie Experiment Trump vs. CA Best City, Broken Gov

POWER PLAY Politics

Who believed a survivor, and who didn't? Scoring the Yekutiel fallout

Plus: Xavier Becerra makes a big education pledge, Flock question flummoxes supervisor candidate and Chan's reaction to Wiener's AI chatbot.

The fallout from the Manny Yekutieli drama continued after a new allegation of sexual assault emerged this week. | Jason Henry for The Standard

By Joe Fitzgerald Rodriguez, Omar Rashad, Dustin Gardiner, and Ezra Wallach

Published Oct. 4, 2026 at 6:30pm

➦ Share

1

What a week. After Manny Yekutieli's fall from grace, fortunes turned, reputations were tarred, and the public aired its appreciation for insiders who believed a sexual assault survivor when it wasn't politically convenient.

But first things first: Yekutieli's alleged actions caused real pain. Survivors and what they endure should always be front and center. The Standard worked to air their concerns and is determined to pursue truth wherever it may lead.

Power Play, however, is a venue to analyze the knife fight in San Francisco’s phone booth, so here we go with the winners and losers.

The two San Francisco politicians to come out rosiest were District 8 candidate Gary McCoy and Supervisor Myrna Melgar. Throughout the campaign, McCoy seemed to understand the assignment: Stay the course, be humble, and support survivors, but don’t

Sign in or create an account

Get access to this article with a free account

Your email address

email@example.com

Continue with email

or

 Continue with Google

 Continue with Apple

By creating an account, you agree to The San Francisco Standard's Terms of Service and Privacy Policy

About Us

Staff

Standards & Ethics

Newsletters

Mobile App

Jobs

Contact Us

Tips

Advertising

Sign In

Paid Subscription

Subscription FAQs

© The San Francisco Standard. All Rights Reserved.

Terms of Use | Privacy Policy | California Resident Rights | Privacy Center