PART OF THE ALPR COUNCIL AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT TOOLKIT

ALPR Program Details Worksheet

Complete this worksheet before using any other toolkit materials.

The toolkit materials use general language that applies across automated license plate recognition (ALPR) programs. Your agency's public answers need to reflect your specific configuration, policy decisions and legal context, not the general framework.

Complete every field below before adapting the Q&A or preparing any public-facing materials. If a field is not yet decided, resolve it before using the relevant toolkit materials. Every answer that reflects your agency's specific configuration, policies and legal context should trace back to a field in this worksheet or to one of the source documents listed here. Answers about how the system is designed and what it does by default are addressed in the Axon Vehicle Intelligence Boundaries document.

Section 3: Localized Public Answers

Localization Required

Use your completed Section 2 to fill in every highlighted field below. Regular text is written to be used as is; your agency, counsel or approver can adapt it where needed. Delete the gray instruction boxes, and any option that does not match your configuration, before using these templates in verbal testimony, staff reports or public handouts.

These templates are written in first person for verbal testimony. For written materials, substitute the agency's name for "we" and "our."

What does the system collect?

Our program captures vehicle detections at specific camera locations, including a license plate image, a vehicle context image, basic vehicle attributes such as color, make and vehicle type, and the time and location of each detection. The context image provides visual context for review. Because it is an image from the scene, it may incidentally include surroundings, signage or people in view. It is not analyzed for facial recognition or behavioral profiling. The system does not perform live registered-owner lookups or build a profile of a registered owner. Our deployment includes [Fleet 3 / Axon Outpost / Axon Lightpost / Works With Axon partner cameras] and covers [public-safe description of deployment scope or coverage area].

Can this be used to track people over time?

The system does not monitor people or maintain a live location feed. Authorized users can review prior detections of a specific plate within [agency name]'s retention period of [number of hours or days] when there is an authorized investigative purpose. That search requires [case number / stated reason / agency-approved justification], is logged with the user, action and time and, where configured, stated reason, and is reviewed by our [audit owner name and title] on a [monthly / quarterly / other] cadence.

How long is data kept?

ALPR detection data is retained for [number of hours or days] under [agency name]'s configured retention policy and removed automatically when that period expires. Detections preserved as evidence follow our evidence retention rules, which require [brief description of your evidence retention standard]. Retention periods are documented in our written use policy and configured in the system.

DELETE BEFORE USE

Use Only If Video Recording Is Enabled

If video recording is enabled:

Video is retained separately for [number of days] under our video retention policy.

Who can access the data?

Access is limited to [authorized roles: for example, patrol officers, investigators, supervisors] who have been designated in our access configuration. [Agency name] defines and manages those roles. Every search is logged with the user, the action and the time, and our [audit owner name and title] reviews access activity on a [monthly / quarterly / other] cadence.

Is sharing enabled, and with whom?

DELETE BEFORE USE

Choose One Sharing Answer

Use the answer that matches your configuration from Sections 1 and 2. Delete the other answer before publishing or presenting.

Option A: Sharing disabled

Sharing is off. No other agency has access to our ALPR data through a sharing relationship. We have not configured any sharing relationships and would need to make a deliberate decision to enable sharing with any partner.

Option B: Sharing enabled

We have approved sharing relationships with [partner agency name or names]. Those relationships were authorized by [who authorized them], are visible in our configuration and are revocable at any time. We review active sharing relationships as part of our [sharing relationship review cadence] audit process. Partner agencies we share with cannot re-share our ALPR data or extend access to any other party.

What happens if a federal agency requests access to the data?

Through Axon, there is no automatic, standing or built-in federal access to our ALPR data. Because we own and control the data, a lawful request goes to us and our counsel to handle. If Axon receives such a request, Axon directs it to us as the data owner and discloses data only where legally required to do so. If a request goes directly to our agency, we respond under [state law citation / local ordinance / our written policy], which [brief description of how your agency handles such requests]. Our process for lawful requests is documented in [policy document name].

What stops this from being used for immigration enforcement?

DELETE BEFORE USE

Example Policy Commitments:

Replace with the agency's approved policy commitment before use.

Examples for the policy commitment field:

- Our written use policy does not authorize use of ALPR data in support of civil immigration enforcement.
- Our agency is governed by [local ordinance name] which restricts cooperation with civil immigration enforcement.

This is a decision our agency governs through policy and law. [Your agency's specific policy commitment]. Axon does not provide our data to any federal agency, including immigration enforcement, except where legally required. Direct requests to our agency are handled under [state law / local ordinance / our policy], and that process is documented in [policy document name].

What record shows the program is operating within policy?

Our audit owner, [name and title], reviews access activity and ALPR searches on a [monthly / quarterly / other] cadence. That review is documented and retained. We can produce a summary of our audit review process, our review cadence and, where legally appropriate, a redacted summary of findings. The system logs every ALPR search and relevant system action with user, action, time and, where configured, stated reason.
