Two cameras were turned away from the road. One was at Hill and Derbyshire, and the other was at Old State Line Road and Angola.

One camera was cut down from its pole at Angola and Kieswetter.

One camera was taken down by its bolts on Dorr near McCord Road. Only the pole remained at the Dorr Street location Sunday.

The two cameras that were turned are facing the road again.

The two cameras that were taken down are in the possession of the sheriff's office.

Investigators said this is the most Flock camera tampering they have seen in a single weekend.
