

https://www.smdailyjournal.com/news/local/half-moon-bay-to-review-license-plate-readers-use/article_daa34f06-6353-4e2e-a4c4-2aa4f52cce66.html

FEATURED

Half Moon Bay to review license plate readers use

Concerns come as California cities cancel ALPR contracts; citing data privacy issues

By Holly Rusch, Daily Journal staff

Feb 5, 2026

f X @ ✉ 📄 📌 📖 in Half Moon Bay will be bringing a conversation about the city's automated license plate readers back to the City Council after the community raised concerns about data-sharing risks with federal agencies.

“We’re trying to develop some information we can share with the public and then have a conversation about it,” Mayor Debbie Ruddock said. “We have a large Latino community here, and a large farmworker community — some in Half Moon Bay, some in the county. We want to look out for the most vulnerable people, as well as everybody else.”

holly@smdailyjournal.com

(650) 344-5200 ext. 105

MORE INFORMATION

Half Moon Bay is set to install surveillance cameras

Burlingame council supports exploring citywide surveillance technology policy

Holly Rusch, Daily Journal staff

Daily Journal staff