Captain Maravillas,

I am withdrawing W012462-040226.

In last night's message I offered to withdraw this request if the Department addressed my substantive PRAs first, and asked that it be deprioritized in the meantime. The Department's response was to close W012297-030826 into this corpus and to extend two additional requests with the same email-search framing. That is the opposite of what I asked.

W012462 is being used to defer requests that have nothing to do with @flocksafety.com emails. Closing it removes that mechanism. I reserve the right to re-file with a narrowed scope once the substantive requests are resolved.

Dear Brian C,

The City received the following records request from you on April 02, 2026.

Pursuant to the California Public Records Act (Gov. Code § 7920 et seq.), I request the following:

All emails received by any SMPD email address from @flocksafety.com or @mail.flocksafety.com, from January 2020 to present.

As you are aware, we are releasing records on a rolling basis to show a good faith and diligent effort to complete your request. The next batch of records has been released and made available on the San Mateo Records Request Portal. You will be receiving more batches of responsive records in the future. Select the link below to view what is currently available. Also, please see the attached PDF response to your comments submitted on 4/21/26.

We will further respond to your request with updates no later than 5/19/26.

Thank you for today's batch. Before I review it, I want to flag a factual issue with your 4/21 message, which opens "As you are aware, batches of responsive records have been released on a rolling basis."

I was not aware. Specifically:

- On 4/7/26 at 5:52 PM your office wrote that "An initial batch of records has been released and made available on the San Mateo Records Request Portal." On multiple occasions between 4/7 and 4/21, including shortly after the 4/21 message below, no attachments were visible to me on W012462-040226.
- On 4/21/26 at 10:19 AM your office wrote that "The next batch of records has been released and made available on the San Mateo Records Request Portal." At 10:47 AM PST that same morning — 28 minutes later — I captured a timestamped screenshot of the portal showing no attachments on this request, and uploaded that screenshot to the portal so it would be part of the record (Screenshot_2026-04-21_at_10.47.27_AM.png). Attachments first became visible to me later in the day on 4/21.

I'd also note the substance of today's production: eight PDFs consisting of Flock marketing emails, webinar invitations, and partner-agency camera-sharing notifications. These are the records a keyword search for "@flocksafety.com OR @mail.flocksafety.com" would surface immediately, with no review or redaction burden. Given that the City is framing the 19-day rolling production as evidence of good faith and diligent effort, could you describe what the diligent effort has consisted of to date, and what portion of responsive records today's batch represents?

A separate note on the format: the eight files appear to be individual emails saved as PDF, not attachments extracted from emails. Several of the PDFs render with broken image placeholders in place of the inline graphics that were part of the original HTML emails — for example, _Better_real-time_alerts__product_enhancements.pdf shows at least three broken image placeholders on pages 2–3 alone. For marketing emails this is largely cosmetic, but for any responsive email where an embedded image carries the substance, this rendering method would drop that content from the production.

A few questions:

1. At what date and time was the "initial batch" referenced in the 4/7 message actually made available to me on the portal?
2. At what date and time was the "next batch" referenced in the 4/21 10:19 AM message actually made available to me on the portal? If it was after 10:47 AM, the message preceded the availability.
3. If portal visibility lags the status message, how should a requester know when records are actually retrievable?
4. What portion of records responsive to this request does today's eight-PDF batch represent, and what is the City's estimated completion date?

I'm raising this because "as you are aware" presupposes a notification that the record shows I did not receive, and because the City is characterizing the production timeline as evidence of good faith and diligent effort. I'd like the record to reflect when records were actually available to me, not only when messages described them as released.

Captain Maravillas,

Thank you for the 4/21 update on W012462-040226. I have a few follow-up items I would appreciate your response to.

1. Missing uploads. The 4/7/26 correspondence stated that "an initial batch of records has been released and made available on the San Mateo Records Request Portal," and the 4/21/26 correspondence stated that "the next batch of records has been released and made available on the San Mateo Records Request Portal." As of this writing, no responsive files are visible on the portal for this request. Could you confirm whether records have in fact been uploaded and, if so, where they can be accessed? If an upload error occurred, please re-post the batches at your earliest convenience.

2. Investigative nexus for § 7923.600. Gov. Code § 7923.600 exempts records of law-enforcement investigations. The responsive set here is correspondence from @flocksafety.com and @mail.flocksafety.com, which consists largely of vendor communications — marketing, account management, system-generated alerts, and support correspondence. Please identify, either by category or by individual record, which withheld items are being treated as records of investigation and the basis for that treatment.

3. Segregation. Gov. Code § 7922.525(b) provides that any reasonably segregable portion of a record shall be available after deletion of the portions that are exempted by law. For each email being withheld, please confirm whether the From, To, Date, and Subject fields — as well as any vendor boilerplate, signature blocks, or mass-distributed content in the body — have been evaluated for segregation, and produce redacted copies with the non-exempt portions intact.

4. Index of withheld records. For the portion of the production being withheld, please provide an index identifying each record by sender, recipient, date, and subject line, along with the specific exemption asserted. Where § 7923.600 is asserted, please identify the investigation to which the record relates and whether that investigation is active or closed.

5. Hot-list alert verification. SMPD policy requires manual verification of hot-list alerts before they are acted upon in the course of an investigation. For any hot-list alert emails being withheld under § 7923.600, please indicate whether the alert was manually verified, and produce the underlying verification records (system logs, audit trail entries, or equivalent) reflecting the verifying user, timestamp, and verification outcome. For alerts that were not manually verified, please explain the basis on which those records are considered records of investigation.

I appreciate your continued work on this rolling production and look forward to your response.

Sincerely,
Brian C
