AUGUSTA COUNTY, Va. (WHSV) - Augusta County Sheriff Donald Smith shared comments Monday about the use of Flock cameras in the county, which comes as other localities in the Valley have stopped using the cameras.

In a release, Smith said the Augusta County Sheriff's Office uses two Flock cameras on Jefferson Highway near the Preston Yancey Fire Department that monitor each direction of the roadway. Smith said the cameras have "already proven available in several investigations" — noting the homicide of Andrew Mitts Jr., finding stolen vehicles, missing-person cases and more.

Smith acknowledged the cameras are "reassuring community members who are logged" and subject

"Augusta County is like Flock cameras. It's important that we care responsibly."

Smith said he will continue listening to the community and review usage of Flock cameras, weighing the pros and cons of further use in the county.

"I ask for your patience as we work through these issues. My goal is to keep Augusta County safe while maintaining the trust and confidence of the people we serve," Smith said. "Thank you for continuing to share your thoughts, questions, and concerns. I am committed to protecting our community while respecting the rights, privacy, and freedoms of everyone."
