Hi Christian-

During my recent Flock audit, I found that on 11/30/25, you conducted 2 license plate searches with your listed reason as being "Inv" and a third on 11/29/25 where you listed "Flock hit". These are not acceptable search reasons. Please use an offense type and be more descriptive than just using investigation or "Flock hit". Additionally, if available we ask that you also put a case number, cad number, or warrant number in the "Case Number" box.

If you have any questions, let me know.

Thanks,

Hi Brady-

I conducted a recent Flock audit and found that on 11/26/25 you conducted a search and listed the reason as "Theft." In the future, please try and support the theft with a cad number or case number if one is available. If not, then try to give a little more detail in the reason box. As you will see, Flock is now requiring an offense type and reason to be more transparent.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Hi Kayla-

I conducted a recent audit of Flock and saw that on 11-23-25 you conducted a search of a license plate but did not list a reason. In the future, all searches require an offense type, reason, and a case or cad number if available.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Hi Pascale-

I conducted a recent Flock audit and found that on 11-13, 11-15, and 11-16, you conducted searches and listed the reason as Inv-1. Unfortunately, this is not a justified reason. Please try and support your search with an offense type, reason, and case or cad number if available.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Hi Maria-

Each month I have to go through all the Flock searches to make sure our staff is using the appropriate offense code, reason, or case number when using the search system. On 12/12/25, at 1331 hours, you listed "Lost veh" as your search reason. I am assuming you were assisting an RO look for their misplaced vehicle which is fine; however, in the future can you list an incident number or an offense code in the appropriate tabs. ALPR systems are under a lot of scrutiny right now and were being asked to do monthly audits.

Thank you,
