

https://www.goskagit.com/news/local_news/sedro-woolley-turns-off-law-enforcement-cameras-while-it-seeks-court-ruling/article_d0d0bdb9-6502-4686-94ae-346289afd535.html

Sedro-Woolley turns off law enforcement cameras while it seeks court ruling

VINCE RICHARDSON and MILO WHITMAN Skagit Valley Herald
Oct 24, 2025

This website utilizes technologies such as cookies to enable essential site functionality, as well as for analytics, personalization, and targeted advertising.

The city of Sedro-Woolley is no longer using cameras that read license plates while it seeks a court ruling on whether images recorded by the cameras are considered public records.

Deny Non-Essential

Police Chief Dan McElrath said the seven Flock Safety cameras that went live in Sedro-Woolley in March were disabled in June.

Vince Richardson can be reached at 360-416-2181, vrichardson@skagitpublishing.com

Milo Whitman can be reached at mwhitman@skagitpublishing.com or 360-428-0400

Vince Richardson

Newsroom

This website utilizes technologies such as cookies to enable essential site functionality, as well as for analytics, personalization, and targeted advertising.

Privacy Policy